Letter from the President

By Vince Jarboe

To all IABA Members and business owners in the Iroquois Area:

In January I was honored to be elected as new President of the Iroquois Area Business Association for 2008. I would like to thank the members for this vote of confidence, and I hope that I am able to serve you in the way that best addresses your needs as a business community.

Vince Jarboe
IABA President

Our Association has grown by leaps and bounds over the past few years, thanks to the efforts of our members, a dedicated Board of Directors, and the excellent leadership of our past presidents, Ed Hammond, David Jett and Barbara Nichols. I recently learned that we have over 700 small businesses in the Iroquois area zip code of 40214 alone. This astounding figure reveals what a vibrant area of commerce we enjoy here but also shows how much room for growth we have as an association.

The IABA exists to help the businesses of our area grow and find information that can help them in their business pursuits. We also hope that there is benefit to the overall community in what we try to accomplish. I would really like to stress the idea of networking, and using the businesses in our area. We all grow stronger if we spend our hard earned dollars on those companies with which we have a relationship.

We also strive to make each monthly meeting of the IABA a wise use of your time. Please consider coming to the next meeting, and getting all you can out of IABA. If I can answer any questions, or be of any help to you, please don't hesitate to contact me. You can reach me via email, at vince@jarboeagency.com, or my phone is 380-3800. Here's to a healthy, happy and prosperous 2008!

IABA Welcomes Diverse Community

The IABA has announced plans to host two receptions in the coming year for business men and women in the international community.

According to International Committee Chair Jeff Roberts, "The goal of the receptions will be to provide opportunities for networking among our diverse business population and also to introduce the IABA to leaders in that business community." The events will feature guest speakers and refreshments.

The International Committee Receptions will be held at National City Bank on South 3rd Street on May 13 and October 14 starting at 5:30 pm. If you are interested in attending or helping with the reception, please contact Jeff Roberts at 366-6022 or by email at jroberts@beaconccu.org.

IABA Spotlight: Jimbo's Bar-B-Que

People keep coming back to Jimbo's Bar-B-Que for good food at the right price. No matter what you order, it's always served with a smile!

Thinking about what to do for dinner? Call ahead and Jimbo's will have it ready for you on your way home from work. Or there's always plenty of space in the dining room and the outdoor deck can accommodate large parties.

Jimbo's menu includes pulled meats, salads and wings, ribs and chicken, all with your choice of regular or spicy secret recipe bar-b-que sauce. Their seasonal favorite, fried green tomatoes, will whet your appetite for more. Jimbo's desserts are the perfect end to a delicious meal - don't miss the homemade banana pudding.

Jimbo's Bar-B-Que also caters banquets and meetings. Guests at your event can enjoy the same great food, service, and smiles served daily at Jimbo's. And their helpful staff can assist you in selecting a menu that's just right for your group.

Jimbo's owners Bob & Nikki Barringer brought their unique barbeque flavor to the Iroquois area in 2004. Nikki is a past board member of the IABA and still currently serves on the Meetings Committee.

Local Citizens Receive Kentucky History Award

Iroquois-area residents Stefanie Buzan and Rosemary McCandless were honored at the 2008 Kentucky History Awards Program, held March 1 at the Thomas D. Clark Center for Kentucky History in Frankfort. Sponsored by the Kentucky Historical Society and the Historical Confederation of Kentucky, these annual awards recognize the best achievements and projects relating to state and local history.

Buzan and McCandless received the "Award of Merit for Publication - Local or State History" for their book, A View from the Top: The Neighborhoods of Iroquois Park and Kenwood Hill.

Eric Brooks (R), Historical Confederation of KY president, presents the award to Stefanie Buzan (L), Rosemary McCandless (C).

"This is an opportunity to recognize the hard work of those who cherish Kentucky history," says Kent Whitworth, KHS Executive Director. "We are pleased to honor individuals and programs that provide all of us with connections to the past, perspective on the present, and inspiration for the future." The book is pictured below.

The 202-page book reveals a fascinating glimpse at the people, landmarks, churches and schools that make up this historical area of Louisville. With over 300 photos and images and excerpts from dozens of former and current residents, A View from the Top documents the neighborhoods in a comprehensive and in-depth way not seen before.

You may purchase the book at the Little Loomhouse gift shop on 328 Kenwood Hill Road or on-line at www.littleloomhouse.org.
